With 32 years of professional experience, the Company has developed hundreds of different application solutions with high professional degree and high efficiency.

Customization Service

In view of the ever-changing laminating and cutting technology, KUNTAI R & D center and production center constantly analyze the new materials in order to provide customized services as per needs of clients. Clients can embrace the latest laminating and cutting technology along with the updated machinery for maximizing performances and profits.

We care about our customers and Slowly, our customers start to care about us and recommend us to more and more friends. This is for long term cooperation!

“ I’ d like to tell you a little about our company while I’ m at it. We are owned by Toyota Tsusho, which is the distribution arm of Toyota. We laminate various materials(foams, felts, fabrics, etc.) with an industrial adhesive, mostly for automotive applications. We deal primarily with Tier 1 suppliers for Toyota and Honda .”

Starting from this brief introduction, we begin our cooperation with this US_x0002_Japan joint venture. From one set of 200ton automatic conveyor belt cutting machine to one coating laminating machine and then to another two cutting machines, they have grown and expanded, so have we.
