

UVO was founded in Hong Kong in 2017, that is a cutting-edge brand enterprise that focuses on interior and exterior wall and smart modular space product system, integrating technical R&D, design, innovation, sales and services.

Thinking about V - Does our office environment require an active area? While, wouldn't it be wasteful to build a space individually? At this time, the flexible and easy-to- disassemble office products are very nice. When working, it is an office style. When a party or event is needed, the office furniture and the like are received in the designated area. Then, there is a stage space created. These reactions are like line charts on the flat design, and the concept of "V" is born, and the folding system is better explained.

H85

H-85 Series operable wall is a double-glazed movable wall system , which takes into account the aesthetic standards of perspective and excellent sound insulation. The transparent glass allows the light outside to penetrate and extend into the interior, while the double glazed structure ensures good acoustics.

The dual panels of H-85 can also be made of MFC, soft package materials, paint glass etc.
